Founder, V&R Consulting, LLC Greenwood, SC Claire@TransformYourVtoR.com 864-344-1716

Claire F. Kuhl is the owner of V&R Consulting, LLC, a management consulting practice based in Greenwood, South Carolina. During her extensive business career, Claire has managed multimillion dollar projects, motivated teams, led change, and generally instigated trouble in a variety of industries and disciplines, ranging from international behemoths to sole proprietorships and nonprofits. She first served as faculty for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation's Institute for Organization Management in 2013.

In her consulting, Claire focuses on three key areas—helping organizations:

- Strengthen staff
- Structure information
- Sharpen execution

Claire is the co-author of Lean Communication: Applications for Continuous Process Improvement, published by Business Expert Press. She has twice been recognized by the U.S. Small Business Administration as a South Carolina state award winner, and once as a southeastern regional winner. The South Carolina Business and Professional Women (BPW) named her South Carolina's Career Woman of the Year.

Through her strategic alliance with Smart Work | Network, Inc. (SmartWorkAssessments.com), Claire assists organizations in applying the Science of Selection to their talent management processes, using a suite of more than 50 psychometric assessments for candidate selection and staff development.
